Police crackdown on drink-driven violence

A POLICE campaign to tackle drink-fuelled violence is being relaunched for the summer.

The move comes after weekend violence in Newmarket in which a youth needed stitches after being thrown through a shop window.

Another young man suffered a serious eye injury after being hit with a bottle in a separate incident.

The previous weekend a 40-year-old man suffered a broken jaw when he was hit in the face at the High Street taxi-rank.

But Suffolk police said the relaunch of its Operation Staysafe had been pre-planned to start tomorrow and was not a reaction to the attacks.

The operation will be a repeat of a similar campaign carried out last summer and during the Christmas and New Year period which saw extra police in the town.

Scores of fixed penalty "on the spot" fines were handed out for minor offences such as threatening behaviour or urinating in public.

Supt Jon Brighton said: "From previous operations and policing the night-time economy, we have identified key areas where additional patrols should have the most impact on alcohol-fuelled violent crime.

"Extra officers will be on patrol in Newmarket and Bury St Edmunds every Friday and Saturday night from this weekend until the end of August."

He said officers would be checking that pubs, clubs and off-licences complied with the terms of their licences and were not selling drink to under-age youngsters.

They will confiscate drink from under-age youngsters caught in the street with alcohol.

Police will also carry out checks on door staff at night clubs to ensure they are properly licensed.

In the latest incident an 18-year-old from Dereham, Norfolk, was taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, for stitches to cuts after the window of Bouquets florists in Newmarket High Street was smashed at around 3.15am.

A 19-year-old from Norwich suffered bruising in the same incident which caused more than £1,000 damage to the shop.

Police arrested six young men from Newmarket, five aged 18 and one aged 20. They were released on bail after questioning and are due to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on July 8 and 9.

Helen's man of clay could be the next big thing on television

A GIRL'S clay character could follow in the footsteps of Bob the Builder.

Helen Gleed's creation Pop Belly Bob was chosen as the winning entry of a national contest judged by Curtis Jobling, designer of Bob the Builder and creator of the CBBC animation Frankenstein's Cat.

She won a school site licence for special animation software and six webcams for use at her school – St Felix Middle School in Newmarket.

Helen, 10, from Woodditton, was one of four winners in Animate IT '08 competition.

More than 600 entries were submitted for the contest run by Film Street, a children's film-making website, and software company Kudlian Soft.

The school will use the equipment to bring Pop Belly Bob to life in an animation which will be shown on www.kudlian.net and www.filmstreet.co.uk.

Tim Brook, who has just been appointed creative media director at the school, said: "We put in 20 entries to the competition because we thought the prize was worth having. I was quite optimistic because the quality of the children's entries was very high."

The school is planning to start its own internal television station where Pop Belly Bob's adventures could be screened.

Noise deal averts threat to speedway

NOISE abatement notices which threatened the future of speedway and banger car races at a fenland track have been modified with the agreement of magistrates.

The operators of Mildenhall Stadium and the nearby Motoland UK motocross track had appealed against a notice issued by Forest Heath District Council.

The appeals were lodged by Ron and Dave Coventry, whose company RDC Promotions runs banger racing at the stadium, together with Fen Tigers Speedway and Motoland.

But the court heard that they had agreed "minor modifications" to the abatement notice with the council and had gained planning permission for noise reduction measures.

The measures include a high bank of straw bales and earth as well as a close-boarded high fence at the stadium.

Amy Richardson, solicitor for all four organisations, told magistrates at Mildenhall: "Some of the work required planning permission and some of it did not."

Paul Weller, the council's solicitor, said: "We have been able to agree a revised notice."

Magistrates agreed the changes which will allow the racing to continue as long as the businesses comply with the notice.

Scarecrows on straw bikes on way to 'recycling' festival

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

MOTORISTS could be forgiven for looking twice as they pass a giant straw bike beside the A11.

Organisers of the Scarecrow Festival at Barton Mills have used massive straw bales to create two bicycles on either side of the road to promote the event, which has a "recycling" theme.

Colin and Lis Brotherton, who help to organise the festival, put together the figures with the help of farmers and helpers.

"The theme this year is recycling so we thought it would be fun to have bikes to advertise the festival," said Mr Brotherton.

Villagers are busy making scarecrows and other figures for the festival, to be held over the weekend of June 7 and 8.

At the village manor house, a 40ft mammoth has been constructed as part of a representation of a scene from the film Ice Age. Other recycled animals to be featured will include the sloth and the sabre-toothed tiger.

The festival is not held every year and this year is the seventh. One of the earlier festivals gained the village a spot in The Guinness Book of Records.

It has raised thousands of pounds over the years to help pay for the upkeep of the 900-year-old church in the village and other charities.

This year's event will feature the "Turn-off" prize for the best piece of "art" made from recycled materials.

Environmental groups and organisations will be taking part in the festival, which will also include an open gardens event.

Man facing sex charges

POLICE have charged a man with five sexual assaults including one in Newmarket.

Nicholas Gill, 34, of The Street, Barrow, is due to appear at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court on Tuesday, May 20, after being formally charged by Suffolk police.

He is accused of assaulting a girl, aged 12, in the Baker's Oven in High Street, Newmarket, in October last year and another assault the same month at Waterstone's in Bury St Edmunds.

He is also charged with two offences in Bury St Edmunds, in Warehouse Clearance Store and WH Smith last month and an offence in Barrow in 2006.

Walking on for charity

FAMILIES have been invited to join an annual sponsored walk as part of the build-up to a village carnival.

Burwell Big Walk Sunday will be on May 18. It has previously attracted more than 100 people and has helped to raise money for local organisations which benefit from the carnival.

This year's walk, which starts from the Burwell Ex-Service Club car park at 1pm, has two new routes and a scavenger hunt to keep participants interested.

The carnival is due to be held on June 28. Last year a total of £7,000 was raised at the carnival and associated events. The cash was shared between 20 local groups.

Hedge fire at stables

FENCING, trees and a hedge were burned in a fire which spread from a bonfire at a Newmarket stable yard.

No horses were affected by the blaze at Heyward Place stables in Hamilton Road, Newmarket, but up to six metres of fence was damaged before fire fighters were able to extinguish the blaze, which happened at 3.30pm on Tuesday last week.

A fire crew also tackled a blaze in wood chippings at Frampton Close, Newmarket, which is believed to have been started by children, and a rubbish fire in Laureate School Road on the same day.

No jail for man who told girlfriend 'I'll bury you'

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN dragged his girlfriend into an alleyway by her hair and told her: "I'm going to bury you. You're dead."

But Roger Bradley, 43, escaped an immediate jail sentence for the attack in Newmarket – his second conviction for domestic violence.

Instead he was given a suspended prison sentence of 16 weeks. It was suspended for two years and included supervision by a probation officer with a condition that he attends a programme to address his violence towards women.

District Judge David Cooper, sitting at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court, decided not to activate a suspended sentence imposed in July of last year for stealing £1,800 while Bradley was working at a filling station.

He ordered Bradley to do 50 hours of unpaid community work for breaching the suspended sentence.

The judge told him: "You are surprisingly cavalier about the way you treat women. You believe you can push and pull and slap them."

Bradley, of St David flats, Icewell Hill, Newmarket, had admitted assaulting Sue Hooper on April 5.

The judge, reading a summary of the case, said the couple had been drinking in the Wetherspoons pub in Newmarket High Street on a Saturday before the incident. Bradley accused her of "trying to get off" with one of his friends in the pub.

■ RISK TO WOMEN . . . Roger Bradley arriving at court.

But they later arranged to go to the town's market. There was a further row after Ms Hooper spoke to a woman friend on the Market Square and Bradley accused her of "sticking her nose in where it wasn't needed".

He dragged Ms Hooper by her hair into an alleyway near the town's White Hart pub and pushed her against a wall making the threat to "bury" her and kneeing her in the groin.

The judge said Bradley's previous convictions included an attack on a different woman who he had kicked with a steel toe-capped boot. He had been given a six-week jail sentence for that offence.

Judge Cooper said a probation report rated Bradley as "medium risk" of causing serious harm to another woman.

Defence solicitor Jeremy Kendall said Bradley had already been punished for the offence because he lost his job at Newmarket's Homebase store following newspaper reports of an earlier court hearing.

He said Bradley had completed community service imposed for the theft and was repaying the money.

School's fun day boosts leukaemia charity funds

The youngsters Bethany Way, five, Sam Sharp, six, and Charlie Bishop, eight, are all pupils at St Mary's Primary School in Mildenhall where the event was held.

The school, which has 300 pupils, has three times the national average number of children with leukaemia.

As well as activities for children at the school, the fundraising events included a 5km run for adults. Money will go to leukaemia charities.

Karen Miller, child and family support co-ordinator at the school, said: "We are delighted that so many people turned out to support our fun day. We are especially proud of the children who took part in the run."

Bethany's mum ,Vashti Porter, said: "The proceeds from the event will not be known until all the sponsor money has been collected but we know that the event has been enjoyable and very worthwhile."

Sam's mum, Sarah Sharp, said: "We have been overwhelmed by the generosity of local businesses, family and friends who donated prizes and gave donations. We are grateful and wish to thank them and the school for all their support."

Police probe hotel arson

GUESTS and staff were evacuated from a hotel after curtains in a corridor were deliberately set alight.

Four fire engines plus a turntable ladder machine were sent to deal with the incident at Newmarket's historic Rutland Arms Hotel during the early hours of Saturday.

A total of 22 people were evacuated from the High Street hotel after the alarm was raised at around 1.30am.

Fire crews found that curtains in a first floor corridor were smouldering causing smoke damage to a number of rooms.

The hotel has just undergone a major refurbishment to create a new wine bar and restaurant.

Police confirmed that the incident was being investigated as arson. Anyone with information should call Det Con Claire Burgess, at Newmarket CID, on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

The event, on Saturday, May 24, at Six Mile Bottom, is being organised by the Suffolk Polo Club and sponsored by Musk's sausages of Newmarket and the Three Blackbirds pub and restaurant at Woodditton.

Money raised from the ticket sales and refreshments will go to the Girton-based Beckbrook group of the Riding for the Disabled Association.

Pupils from Castle School in Cambridge have riding lessons with the group.

Councillor steps aside to save face

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR facing a disciplinary investigation has given up the chance of the top position to save the authority from embarrassment.

Cllr John McGhee, last year's vice-chairman of Forest Heath District Council, would normally have been expected to have moved up to chairman at the council's annual meeting.

But he stood aside and nominated Cllr Rona Burt, the council's planning committee chairman, to take the job replacing Cllr Bill Bishop, who had completed his third term as chairman.

Cllr McGhee, from Mildenhall, faces an investigation by the Standards Board for England after he was criticised in a report by the Local Government Ombudsman.

The ombudsman found the council guilty of maladministration for showing "the appearance of bias and favouritism" in the way it handled an application for planning permission by developer James Waters, whose father is Cllr Terry Waters.

■ DISAPPOINTED . . . Cllr John McGhee.

Cllr McGhee, who supported the application against the advice of council planning officials, was criticised by the ombudsman together with former councillor Robert Newman, who also backed the plan.

The ombudsman has referred the matter to the Standards Board – the councillors' disciplinary body.

Cllr McGhee could be suspended or banned from being a councillor if the board find he has broken the councillors' code of conduct. Such a punishment would be particularly embarrassing for the council if he were its public figurehead as chairman.

Cllr McGhee, 73, has already protested that he did nothing wrong in supporting the application – along with nine other councillors. He said: "It was my decision (not to stand as chairman).

"I stood back voluntarily because I have to face the Standards Board.

"I thought it was best for the sake of the council and myself."

But he said he was disappointed not to have his turn as chairman after nine years on the council, which covers the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas.

He hopes to get his turn at the chairmanship if he is cleared by the Standards Board.

The new vice-chairman of the council is Cllr Malcolm Smith, from Mildenhall.

Bid to find solution in row over new flats

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

AN attempt has been made to resolve a dispute over "ultra-modern" flats being built in Newmarket's conservation area.

Some of the town's leading racehorse trainers have protested against the development in Bury Road.

Trainer's wife Rachel Hood, who is leading the action group fighting the scheme, has said the flats would be out of character with the area and would look like a Spanish holiday development.

She has already had talks with David Hughes, managing director of Newmarket-based developers Highland, in an attempt to have the design of the building changed.

Now Forest Heath District Council is to hold talks with the action group and the company with the aim of getting a more acceptable design.

Members of the council voted to accept a proposal by Cllr Andrew Appleby calling for "all necessary steps" to be taken to have the design changed to "something more appropriate" for the area.

■ PROTEST . . . trainer's wife Rachel Hood and residents in March.

Some of the top trainers in horseracing, including Clive Brittain, Jeremy Noseda, John Gosden and Luca Cumani took part in a street protest outside the site last month.

They, and other residents of Bury Road, were shocked when trees in what was the grounds of a house called The Gables were cleared by contractors working for Highland.

The company was granted planning permission for the development after lodging an appeal against the council's failure to give a decision about the scheme within the time limit.

A government planning inspector agreed that the scheme for 20 flats could go ahead.

The council later ruled that it would have refused planning permission. But it also approved an alternative "red brick" development which was felt to be more acceptable than the white and orange building approved by the inspector.

Nigel McCurdy, the council's strategic director (services), said he had already offered a planning officer to take part in discussions with Highland and the action group. But the offer had not so far been taken up.

He said changes to the colour of the building could be agreed as a "minor amendment" to the planning permission. But any more significant changes would require a new application for planning permission.

David Burnip, the council's chief executive, said: "If proactivity is required then we will call the meeting."

Attacker spared jail

A CHAMPION chicken breeder has been spared a prison sentence for a "Rambo-style" assault.

Roger Clarke launched the vicious attack on chicken breeding friend, Duncan Waites, after he saw him sitting in a car with Glenda Godfrey, his partner of 29 years.

It followed a bust-up a few weeks earlier, which saw Clarke kick Miss Godfrey out of their home in Centre Road, Soham, after he discovered intimate text messages between her and Waites.

Clarke, 59, who has won national titles for his prize birds, had gone looking for Waites and eventually caught up with him when he saw the couple in a car in Chapel Street, Ely, sharing coffee and cigarettes on February 15.

Emma Dimitriev, prosecuting, said: "He caused quite nasty injuries and he admitted what he did in an interview with police."

At an earlier hearing in April the court had been told how Clarke had said in his police confession: "It was my way of getting even – I was quite successful in my mission."

Clarke's attack on his suspected love rival was also described by presiding magistrate Hamish Ross that day as "similar to Rambo" – and he warned Clarke that he could go to prison.

But Dr Christine Ross, chairman of the bench, decided to hand Clarke a five-month suspended sentence and ordered him to complete 250 hours of unpaid work in the community.

She said: "You went there determined to cause injury and you caused serious harm. We seriously considered custody."

Clarke, who pleaded guilty to two counts of assault occasioning actual bodily harm, must also pay Mr Waites £750 and Miss Godfrey £250.

Money could be better spent

Sir, It was with dismay that I read in the Newmarket Weekly News (May 8), Forest Heath's decision to pour further money into investigations for the feasibility of residents' parking permits within Newmarket.

A previous budgeted study gave no clear mandate for the introduction of such a scheme and the council should now respect the outcome of this first survey, and to those that took the time to participate in its democratic consultation.

In the number of years that I have lived along one of the Victorian roads that the suggested scheme may apply to, I have never been unable to park along my road.

Furthermore, during the hours which a proposed scheme might be in operation my car, like many others, will be used to commute and elsewhere during its operation. In short, the scheme is not required and any implementation and running of it will only cost residents money but will not guarantee them a space on their road after their commute home.

For a council whose shelf life may soon be at an end, the spending of additional public money on a second bite of the cherry is absurd.

Rather than wasting even greater resource on trying to achieve a symbolic outcome before its disbanding, would it not be better that the money be spent on implementing or supporting designs where road safety is an issue?

A specific example would be the placing of parking restrictions and yellow lines close to the junctions and bends of both Granary and Green Roads.

In these thoroughfares, properties have recently been built with off-road parking but residents still choose to park in positions that hinder visibility and compromise safety close to areas of significant danger.

Chief exec's pay deal potentially unlawful – report

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A POLITICAL row over the £220,000 salary given to a new council chief has escalated with a report which has claimed that the pay award was "potentially unlawful".

Opposition Labour and Liberal Democrat groups on Suffolk County Council have claimed the report shows the controlling Conservative group was wrong to give Andrea Hill, the council new chief executive, a pay rise of around £70,000 compared to her predecessor.

Mrs Hill, 44, who lives in Duxford, has previously worked for Cambridge City Council and headed Bedfordshire County Council before her move to Suffolk.

The Labour group said the report by the District Auditor showed that information was kept from the staff appointments committee when it decided to increase the salary range for Mrs Hill.

The report said: "It is arguable that the decision to increase the salary range was based on inadequate information and relevant information was not made available to the committee and therefore, was potentially unlawful."

■ PAY RISE . . . Andrea Hill says her salary is the "going rate" for the job.

Cllr Julian Swainson, Labour group leader, said: "This damning report shows that Labour councillors were right to raise the issue with the District Auditor. Clearly the appointment process was flawed, as we said.

"This report shows that Suffolk electors simply cannot trust their Tory county councillors to act responsibly with taxpayers' money."

Cllr Kathy Pollard, Liberal Democrat leader, said: "I think what this report shows, once again, is that a small Conservative cabal is making secretive decisions for the rest of the county.

"We are very concerned at the implication that the council cannot demonstrate value for money was given sufficient consideration. At a time when many people are feeling the pinch, this simply makes the council look bad."

But Cllr Jeremy Pembroke, Conservative leader of the council, said: "We have always maintained that the process was robust and thorough, and I am delighted that this has been confirmed by the Audit Commission.

"Labour and the Lib Dems can play politics with this if they like, but the Conservatives will continue working hard on behalf of the people of this county, to continue delivering high-quality services befitting the best county council in the East of England, and to keep Council Tax as low as possible."

Mrs Hill has said her pay is "the going rate" for the job.

Burglar makes off with dress ring

A BURGLAR got away with a ring with an estimated value of just £20 during a day-time break-in.

The house in Exning Road, Newmarket, was burgled through a conservatory window between 8.45am and 12.35pm last Thursday.

The ring, described as a gold dress ring with a large blue stone surrounded by several white stones, was the only thing reported to have been stolen.

Anyone with information should call Det Cons Claire Burgess at Newmarket CID (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

MPs back campaign bid to upgrade lethal A14

A TOTAL of 25 MPs have rallied round Jim Paice's bid to take a campaign to upgrade the killer A14 to the heart of Westminster.

They include several former ministers and parliamentarians of all parties concerned about the dangers to their constituents – especially truckers – using the lethal highway.

All seven of Cambridgeshire's MPs have supported Mr Paice's House of Commons motion backing the "A14: We Need Action Now" drive by our sister paper, the Cambridge News, in a bid to prompt Transport Secretary Ruth Kelly to go ahead urgently with long-delayed improvement proposals.

The Cambridgeshire South-East Tory and his county colleagues in Parliament are now using every opportunity at Westminster to press Mrs Kelly, her ministerial team, her department and the Highways Agency to act promptly.

Among the 25 MPs backing the EDM, raised in Parliament by Cambridgeshire North-East Tory MP Malcolm Moss, are Labour backbenchers from the North-East, Liberal Democrats, Ulster Unionists and Independent Bob Spink.

BY Bill Jacobs

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Former Labour Minister Paddy Tipping and ex-Tory Ministers Peter Bottomley, Simon Burns, Peter Atkinson, and Greg Knight have also given their support.

Mr Paice said: "I am very pleased to see so many of my Parliamentary colleagues from all parties are supporting the Cambridge News campaign to upgrade the A14.

"I hope more and more MPs will back this motion so that finally the Government will have to listen and do something.

"MPs from all over Britain have recognised this is one of the main road arteries in the UK and that motorists and lorry drivers who have to use it from their areas are at risk from the dangers of this lethal road."

In the 10 years the Cambridge News has been campaigning for improvements there have been more than 2,100 accidents and 52 deaths.

So far this year two people have died on the A14, and there have been more than a dozen crashes.

The latest scheduled upgrade between Ellington and Fen Ditton – originally put in the Government roads' improvement programme in 2003 at a cost of £490 million – is now set to see work start at 2010 at the earliest at a forecast cost of more than £1 billion.

Mr Paice's Early Day Motion appears on the House of Commons Order Paper – Parliament's Daily Agenda sent to all MPs, Ministers and senior Civil Servants.

Entitled "A14 in Cambridgeshire" it reads: "I am alarmed by the 52 deaths on the A14 in Cambridgeshire in the last 10 years.

"I note with concern there have been 12 serious accidents on the trunk road this year causing two fatalities.

"I am concerned at the delays and spiralling costs of long-proposed improvements to this lethal highway.

"I congratulate the Cambridge News on its 'A14 – We Need Action Now' campaign.

"And I call on the Government and Highways Agency to urgently commence the upgrading of the A14 to full dual carriageway and near motorway standard throughout Cambridgeshire to prevent more accidents, deaths and injury."

■ FRUSTRATION . . . flashback to two weeks ago when a lorry jackknifed on the A14 near Newmarket and caused traffic chaos for 12 hours.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

FAMILY-run business Manchetts has recently expanded its experienced staff base by recruiting Neil Ivett as workshop manager.

Manchetts has been providing vehicle services for 40 years including vehicle sales, a body shop, rescue and recovery and has its own Renault dealer commercial workshop and car workshop, which is headed by Neil.

The team at Manchetts is delighted that Neil has joined the company and has brought with him a wealth of experience both of the local area and the trade.

Neil says: "I have been in Burwell for 25 years and worked in the trade for 33 years. I've worked at specialist franchises in East Anglia so have a vast knowledge of all vehicles."

Manchetts is a small, friendly company which takes time to listen to its customers. Customers can rest assured that only skilled mechanics will be working on your car. The company has a full time specialist, electrical, diagnostic technician and a separate MoT station with its own staff.

Manchetts workshops provide a full range of services including MoTs, services, body repairs, diagnostic testing and batteries, tyres and exhausts. As Neil says: "Manchetts is small enough to care but big enough to supply the care."

A free collection and delivery service is available in the local area and a courtesy car can also be arranged if required.

Stick to 20mph – please

A NEW advisory 20mph speed limit is set to be introduced outside a primary school.

The limit, which will not be enforced by the police, is due to be applied to Suffolk Way, in Newmarket, outside the entrance to the Paddocks primary school.

It is part of Suffolk County Council's 20's Plenty scheme to bring in school safety zones. A buff-coloured anti-skid surface will be laid on the road to define the area affected by the lower limit.

The county council has informed Newmarket Town Council about the scheme. But it has said there are not the "resources, time or funding" to carry out wide spread consultation with residents. No date has been set for the work.

Hotel welcomed amid fears over where to park

PROPOSALS for a new hotel to be built as the second phase of a multi-million pound complex of flats and restaurants have been given a cautious welcome by councillors.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

But members of Newmarket Town Council are concerned that the hotel, which could be built on the site of the town's Conservative Club, will not have its own car park.

Developers Reef Estates, which is in talks about the possibility of buying the club in Exeter Road, asked the town council to give its views on the proposals to build a 50-room hotel before submitting a formal application for planning permission.

The company already has permission to develop the adjoining Technical Institute site with three restaurants and 24 flats in an £8 million scheme.

Piers Slater, managing director of Reef Estates, told members of the town council's development and planning committee, that work is due to start in about eight weeks.

"Through our involvement with the site we have been talking to the Conservative Club for over two years," he said.

"It was always our intention to have a second phase to the project which would be the hotel.

"Any development on that site will be subject to the agreement of the club, planning permission and relocation of the club."

He said the intention was to rely on the nearby Guineas Centre multi-storey car park for parking for guests at the hotel.

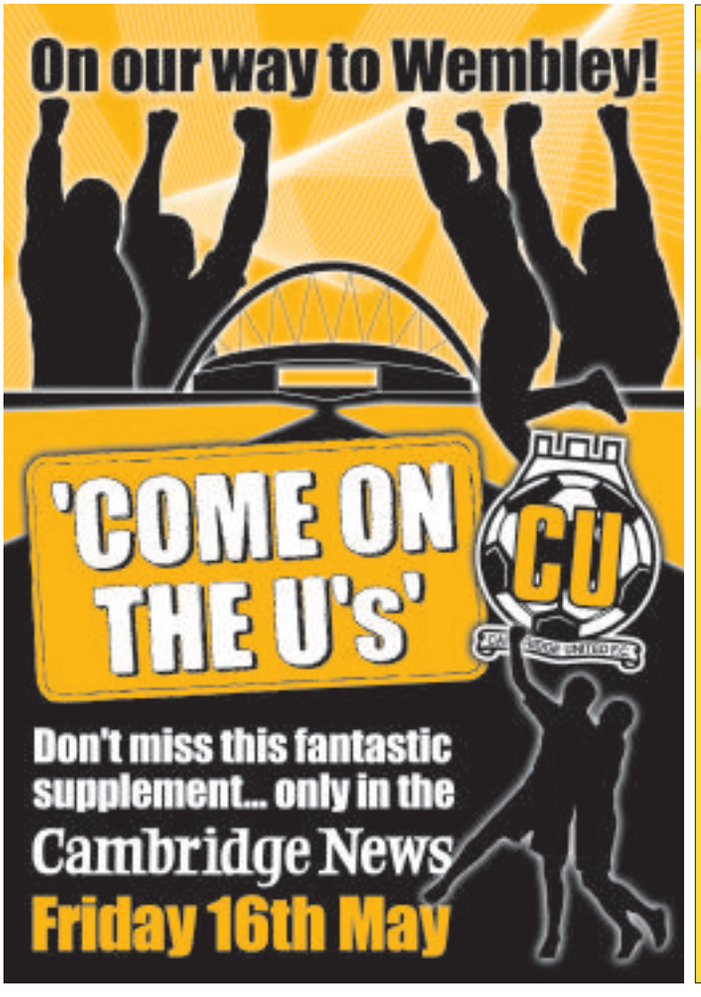
But he said agreement would have to be reached with Forest Heath District Council about reserving spaces in the car park for guests.

Mr Slater said the idea was for the complex to be a pedestrian area where people could eat outside or just "hang out" with friends.

But Cllr Bill Burch, the mayor, said: "There would be an uprising in Newmarket if Forest Heath allowed part of the multi-storey car park to be used by hotel guests. We are short of parking spaces in the town as it is."

Cllr Mick Jefferys, former mayor, said: "We desperately need another hotel in the town centre, but the problem with this plan is the lack of parking on the site."

Mr Slater said further consideration would be given to the parking issue before an application for planning permission was submitted in the next four weeks.



Theft of £24,000 boilers

NEW boiler units worth £24,000 have been stolen from a lorry parked in a layby on the A14.

The curtain side of the lorry was slashed while the driver was asleep in his cab at Kentford. He only noticed something was wrong when he saw the curtain flapping as he drove off along the westbound carriageway.

A total of 30 Aventa 28 boiler units were stolen from the lorry. Police believe thieves would have needed a large van or lorry to take the units away.

Anyone who may have seen anything suspicious, between 5pm on Tuesday, May 6, and 3am on Wednesday, May 7, or who is offered boilers for sale in suspicious circumstances, should call Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Extra time for 'stacking' talks

MORE time has been given for people to comment on the controversial plans to have aircraft circling over parts of Cambridgeshire and Suffolk as they wait to land at Stansted and Luton airports.

The plans for new aircraft "stacking" zones have faced opposition – particularly in the Newmarket area where racehorse breeders and trainers have complained that the town's racing industry could be harmed.

South East Cambridgeshire MP Jim Paice, whose constituency covers areas south of the town, and West Suffolk MP Richard Spring, who represents the town and villages towards Bury St Edmunds, called at a meeting in the House of Commons for the National Air Traffic Service (NATS) to rethink its proposals.

Mr Paice said, after the meeting: "We strongly impressed upon NATS the importance of the racing industry to Newmarket and the risk to the local economy that is presented by these proposals."

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The MPs pointed out to NATS representatives that the stack to the south of Newmarket is the only one being proposed where the lowest height of planes in the hold is below 6,000 feet.

Mr Paice said: "The first priority is clearly to have the proposed stack moved away from an area of such tranquillity and economic importance.

"At the very minimum the lowest height of aircraft in the hold must be substantially increased and at least brought into line with the other new stacks."

Now NATS has announced that the closing date for consultations on the new "stacks" has been extended from May 22 to June 19

Jonathan Astill, NATS' head of airspace management, said: "We have listened to those people who have said there was not enough time for them to consider the details of these proposals, and therefore decided to extend the consultation period.

"It is important that everyone who has a view on the proposals has a chance to make those views known and this four-week extension will enable them to do so."

Mr Paice met parish councillors who are concerned about the proposals at a special meeting at Kirtling Village Hall last week.

The final decision on the new "stacking" zones rests with the Civil Aviation Authority. If the CAA agrees, the new zones will come into operation next spring.

Mayor tours charities

AN ORGANISATION which distributes tons of food destined for needy families and individuals has been visited by Cambridge's mayor, Cllr Jenny Bailey.

Anglia Foodbank, formerly Cambridge Foodbank, moved to Newmarket last year and is about to merge with the Newmarket-based homeless charity Open Door.

Cllr Bailey was shown around the industrial unit at Craven Way which houses Open Door's "charity superstore" as well as the Foodbank by fellow city councillor John Durrant, general manager of Open Door and chairman of the Foodbank trustees.

Cllr Durrant said: "The mayor had expressed an interest in seeing what we do at Newmarket."

She was also able to meet staff from Gateopener, a disability charity which has offices in the unit.

The Foodbank distributes around 70 tonnes of food a year to organisations which deal with the homeless and others in need in the Cambridge and Newmarket areas.

The food, mainly tinned or packaged, is either on a short sell-by date, wrongly packaged or otherwise not saleable by supermarkets which donate the food rather than dumping it in landfill sites.

The organisation is believed to be the only one of its kind in East Anglia.

An application for a lottery grant to buy mechanised warehousing equipment – including a forklift truck – has just been submitted.

Ex-head back at school

A FORMER head teacher is back at the school he retired from nearly three years ago.

Tim Young is sharing the leadership of the English department at Newmarket's St Felix Middle School with Melanie Davies.

Mr Young, who chose a teaching career after topping the pop charts in 1964 as drummer with the group Unit 4 + 2, was the school's head for more than 20 years and was at the school for a total of 28 years.

Since his retirement he has continued to teach on a part-time basis.

Now he and Mrs Davies have been made a more permanent part of the school team and are working with Tim Brook, the newly-appointed creative media director at the school, to develop language skills in all parts of the curriculum.

Newmarket Weekly News regional round-up

Help us keep you informed. We want your news. If your village or club is planning an event, let us know. If your organisation recently had an interesting meeting, let us have a report. Write to John Goode, the Newmarket Weekly News at 15 High Street, Newmarket CB8 8LX or send an email to editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

APRIL was a busy month for Cheveley Parish Council with two meetings. At the meetings, the following items were reported:

■ The burial fees documentation had been updated and Southgate funeral directors advised of no change in fees for the forthcoming year.

■ Copies of the recruitment letter appealing for new councillors are awaited.

■ A parish trees policy has been drafted.

■ The consultation by National Air Traffic Services (NATS) on the proposed changes to airspace was discussed at both meetings. It was decided that the council would submit a response covering several matters including unsatisfactory consultation, unclear presentation of information regarding the number of proposed flights and impacts on noise levels, and the need to give special consideration to the bloodstock and horseracing interests in the parish.

■ Planning matters:

❙ The clerk reported that East Cambridgeshire District Council had confirmed that the owners of 8 Little Green have been permitted to rebuild without a further planning application.

❙ The retrospective planning for the wall adjacent to the highway at 108 High Street was discussed and whilst the parish council does not condone applicants proceeding with works before obtaining the relevant approvals, it was considered that there were no material planning grounds upon which to object to this application, although the inclusion of soft landscaping may help to reduce the impact.

❙ A two-storey rear extension at 195 High Street was discussed and it was agreed that although there were no material planning grounds to object to, amendments could be made to the application to overcome concerns regarding overlooking adjacent properties, loss of light to No193 and the design of the extension which is not in keeping with the existing character of the property or the neighbouring properties. Inaccurate and incomplete information had been submitted.

❙ Councillors were unanimous in their objections to the outline application for two detached houses with detached garages at 70 Centre Drive.

■ A working party had been organised to tidy and prune overgrown shrubs at the cemetery. Additional funds need to be raised to undertake the cemetery path project and it was decided in the first instance to appeal to local studs and businesses. It was agreed that the clerk should produce a document regarding informal burials for distribution.

■ It was agreed that a Highways Working Group should be formed for Cheveley, which will join with Ashley Parish Council to form a joint "Road Safety Action Group". An initial meeting will be arranged.

■ Minutes of all meetings can be viewed at www.Cheveley-pc.org.uk or by contacting the clerk to the parish council.

Cars and tools targeted

A CAR was stolen and another was jacked up and had the catalytic converter stolen from the exhaust system.

Tools and fishing equipment were also stolen from a garage on the same housing estate.

A white Toyota Corolla, registration J37 NEW, was stolen from a garage block in Aureole Walk, on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate on the night of Sunday, April 27.

A nearby garage was also broken into between the Sunday night and 5.30pm the following day. A maroon Mazda MX3 car was broken into while it was parked in Nimbus Way, on the same estate, between 8am and 5.40pm on Monday, April 28. The catalytic converter was stolen.

Anyone with information about the thefts should call Sgt Jo Garrard, of the Newmarket North Safer Neighbourhood Team (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555 111.

Damaged m/cycle gone

The red and black Apache motorcycle, registration WX56 VYB, was taken from Emmanuel Close, Mildenhall, between 10.15pm Thursday, May 1, and 8am the next day. The right side panel of the motorcycle was missing and damage to the lamp and speedometer had been repaired with gaffer tape.

Anyone with information should call Pc Terence Harvey at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Betting shop plan for former bank premises

A FORMER bank is set to become a betting shop.

The former Woolwich branch in Newmarket High Street is set to be taken over by betting chain Betfred.

The branch closed last year after the Woolwich merged with Barclays and the building has been empty since then.

Betfred, which claims to be the world's biggest independent bookmaker, has applied to Forest Heath District Council for the necessary licence and comments about the application have to be submitted to the district council by May 29.

If approval is granted, it will be the second new betting shop to open in Newmarket High Street this year.

Betterbet opened earlier in the year in the former Jumper clothes shop which had been closed for about a year.

The town already has around seven betting shops – including four branches of Ladbroke's.

MPs back upgrade for 'killer' road

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

MPS have again pressed the case for an early start on improvements to a "killer" stretch of road.

The eight-mile stretch of the A11 between the Fiveways roundabout at Barton Mills and Thetford is the last remaining single-carriageway section of the road.

It has been the scene of numerous deaths and serious injuries with another fatality last month when a car driver was killed in a collision with a lorry.

Campaigners have been pressing for years for the road to be made into a dual carriageway.

The work, estimated to cost more than £100 million, was due to have been finished last year but the current anticipated start date is 2012/13.

Richard Spring, whose West Suffolk constituency includes Newmarket and most of the stretch of road, met Ruth Kelly, the Transport Secretary, with Charles Clarke, Norwich South MP, last week to press the case for the work to start sooner.

But the scheme is the subject of a funding review by the East of England Regional Assembly and a further public consultation by the Highways Agency.

"We want the start date brought forward to 2010," said Mr Spring. "I'm really going to fight for this.

"After the 1997 general election, the Government accepted that the A11 was one of the most dangerous roads in England and certainly the most dangerous road in the East of England.

"Delays to the work have been truly unjustified despite endless visits to Ministers in London and visits to the A11 by Government Ministers.

"Dozens of people have been killed and fatalities continue to grow."

Delight as council awarded charter

A COUNCIL has become only the third in the region to be awarded a Members' Charter.
Forest Heath District Council received the charter recognising training and development for councillors at a ceremony before its annual meeting.
The only other councils in the region to receive the award so far have been Broadland in Norfolk and St Edmundsbury Borough Council which is next door to Forest Heath.
Cllr Rona Burt, who chaired Forest Heath's members' charter group, said: "We first made a commitment to the Members' Charter in 2006. We have to continue to work to maintain the standards."
The charter is granted for three years and is subject to a "light touch" inspection after about 18 months.
The certificate was presented by Cllr Andrew Proctor, deputy leader of Broadland council and chairman of the Norfolk/Suffolk member development network.

Traffic calming work to begin

VILLAGERS are facing a long diversion while work is carried out on a busy road.

Warren Road in Red Lodge, is due to be closed for eight weeks while traffic calming measures are put in place.

Work is already under way on the road as part of the major development of up to 1,500 new homes in the village.

Pat McCloud, vice-chairman of The Red Lodge Conservation Group, said the diversion would involve drivers in making a dangerous right turn across the busy A11 and travelling through the villages of Tuddenham and Herringswell.

He said the scheme should only have been carried out when a new road, known as Hundred Acre Way, was ready for traffic.

But Cllr Lisa Chambers, who represents the village on Suffolk County Council and Forest Heath District Council, said it was not possible to use the new road while construction traffic was still using it.

"It will be a huge inconvenience to the village," she said. "But the benefits outweigh the inconvenience."

She said the issue of speeding in Warren Road that had concerned villagers for many years would now be tackled.

The temporary closure order is due to run from June 2 to July 28 although contractors have agreed to lift the restriction for the village's midsummer fair on June 21.

One meeting has already been held to tell villagers about the work and a second one is set to be held today at the village's Millennium Centre.

Flower club's anniversary

A FLOWER club will celebrate its 40th anniversary with flowers and music.

Burwell and District Flower Club will decorate St Mary's Church in the village for the Bank Holiday weekend, May 23-26.

There will be a preview of the displays , at a wine buffet on Friday, May 23, when harpist Cicely Beer will play.

On Saturday, May 24, the displays can be viewed between 2-6 pm and on Sunday, May 25, from 2pm.

There will be music throughout the viewings and on the Sunday at 6.30pm there will be a special Songs of Praise.

Tickets for the Friday evening preview are £10 and can be obtained in advance by phoning Iris Bannister (01638) 662097.

Mower theft

TWO lawn mowers and a grass trimmer were stolen from an old van used as a storage unit by Scouts.

The van next to the Scout hut in St Andrews Street, Mildenhall, was broken into between April 21 and Monday, May 5.

Life begins at 40 for Scouse funnyman

By Nik Shelton

SCOUSE funnyman John Bishop comes to the Junction in Cambridge this month on his first UK tour.

His show Stick Your Job Up Your A charts his journey from being a well paid sales and marketing director for a pharmaceutical company to a jobbing comedian on the stand up circuit.

Despite his major career change he says he has no regrets.

"Well obviously you miss the salary cheque coming in every month and the car and the bonuses and the pension but apart from abject poverty no, there's no regrets," he laughs.

"The first half of the show is straight stand up and the second half is one long story about how I became a comedian because it's the question people always ask.

"I had a good job, I was at the stage in my life where I had kids and a mortgage and giving it all up to be a comedian wasn't really sensible. But if I'd have tried to stay in the job I was doing I'd have gone absolutely mad."

And with a CV as chequered as John's he's certainly got a lot of sympathy with anyone who has come to one of his gigs from a hard day's work. His past jobs include working as a bouncer and as a semi-professional footballer in the football conference. But he's pretty sure what his most hated job was.

"I had a job once painting the ICI chemical factory near Liverpool. You had to paint it from one end to the other and then when you'd finished you'd go back and start again, it was like the Forth Bridge.

"It was horrible because you had to get into all these nooks and crannies and in between the pipes. You had to cover yourself in a boiler suit and cover your face with Vaseline so that at the end of the day you could wipe all the paint off. I hated it."

When he originally began his stand up it was a hobby and standing up on stage in a comedy club was something that had never occurred to him before.

"I never used to watch stand up comedy so for me what's funny is sitting in the pub with my mates, they make me laugh. Before I first walked on stage I'd only been in two stand up clubs in my life.

"What's different about me is that I started comedy in my late 30s and I already had a wife and kids. A lot of comedians start after college or university and it's what they set out to do.

"There was some famous comedian, I can't remember who it was, who said you've got nothing interesting to say until you're 40."

■ John Bishop, aged 40, is at the Junction on Wednesday, May 28, 8pm. Tickets are £10-£12. To book call (01223) 511511.

■ CAREER CHANGE . . . John Bishop swapped his desk job for stand up. CP

Aries Mar 21 - Apr 20

This week brings important challenges for intimate relationships. You may have unreasonable expectations of a romantic partner, real or imagined. The sooner you adopt a more practical view of you both, the happier you'll be.

Taurus Apr 21 - May 21

A close partnership is showing signs of strain. One of you may be working at the expense of your personal life. Alternately, the spark could have left your sex life. The two of you will have to work hard to recover the magic that drew you together.

Gemini May 22 - Jun 21

Your health may not be very robust right now. The demands of a child or lover are wearing on you. It's important to slow down when you start feeling tired. If you need to chill out, hit the hay early or take the phone off the hook, so be it.

Cancer Jun 22 - Jul 23

It will take all your self-discipline to focus on work. An admirer could play hot and cold with you. You don't appreciate these tactics; you need to know where you stand. It may be wise to put distance between you, at least until your friend gets serious.

Leo Jul 24 - Aug 23

If you're not careful, your emotions could get the best of you. It's important to take a more reasoned approach with a partner who has let you down. There's a good chance that your friend is completely oblivious to the hurt he or she has caused.

Virgo Aug 24 - Sept 23

Curiosity could put you on a dangerous path. Be careful where you poke your nose, or it could get slapped. By honouring a friend's privacy, you'll pave the way for a rich, rewarding relationship. A mysterious ache could drive you to distraction.

Libra Sept 24 - Oct 23

An emotional attachment to possessions could create lots of heartache. At some point, you need to accept the fact that your bank balance bears no relation to your personal worth. It's all a matter of adopting a positive outlook.

To hear more call 0905 332 4057

Scorpio Oct 24 - Nov 22

You want to be appreciated, and that's only natural, but everyone is pretty self absorbed this week. All your hard work and good deeds may go completely unnoticed. If this happens, don't despair. Just do something nice for yourself as a reward.

To hear more call 0905 332 4057

Sagittarius Nov 23 - Dec 21

Resist the urge to play the victim. Although it feels like the whole world is plotting against you, it's important to remain calm when challenged by critics. The moment you let down your guard is the time when your rivals will move in for the kill.

To hear more call 0905 332 4057

Capricorn Dec 22 - Jan 20

Going along with the crowd may not be the best idea. Although you want to be liked by your peers, you can't help feeling they're on the wrong track. Forging your own path could hurt people's feelings, but that can't be helped.

To hear more call 0905 332 4057

Aquarius Jan 21 - Feb 19

It's possible you promised more than you could deliver. If that's the case, you owe an apology. Blaming failure on others will only backfire. Expected funds may not be forthcoming. Don't be afraid to rely on others when the chips are down.

To hear more call 0905 332 4057

Pisces Feb 20 - Mar 20

It's hard to be receptive to those whose ideas oppose yours. Still, you're going to have to work alongside them. Set aside opinions, until the job is done. It may be a pleasant surprise to learn you can like someone with a totally different approach to life.

Scooby STI is return to form

FIRST DRIVE

Clever and improved

ADAM SWIFT

BUYING into this esoteric car club has always been more about ability than looks, but with the new version Subaru has ditched the four-door and boot-spoilered brief for a radically different interpretation based around a five-door hatchback.

Japanese performance car fans will miss the bawdy saloon, but there is something quietly compelling about a small family hatch packing nearly 300bhp; the relatively innocuous styling hides serious performance potential.

As well as a new shape we have a totally new platform and suspension, and a more advanced development of Subaru's all-wheel-drive system – the key to this car's B road-obliterating abilities.

The new STI looks more mainstream, but the 2.5-litre horizontally opposed "boxer" engine has a low centre of gravity for better stability and handling. The engine gets a larger and more efficient intercooler for an increase in power (now 296bhp), and more low-down torque thanks to variable valve timing for the intake and exhaust system, and a fast-warm catalytic converter for reduced emissions.

There is the slightest hint of the old engine note at idle and very low revs, but move off with a bigger helping of the throttle and, as with the last versions of the old model, that beautiful boxer burble is a thing of the past. Shame.

However there is nothing shameful about the way this car moves. The throttle pedal is light and easy, as is the clutch, and the six-speed gearbox is more co-operative than before and shorter in throw.

It's one of those cars that seems to get better the faster you go. Handling-wise the snappiness of previous models has been replaced with better balance and predictability.

The new STI is quieter, calmer and progresses down the road with far more pliancy than ever before, thanks in no small way to the new multi-link rear suspension. The brakes, developed with help from Brembo, are simply magnificent. Well done Subaru for making the new STI just as fast as before, but now so much easier to live with. The interior's far better too!

■ THE SUBARU IMPREZA . . . a real eye-opener.

BASICALLY ...

A real eye-opener, with more power, better handling and a new hatchback shape to clothe its clever mechanicals. The cherry on top is that it goes on sale at £24,995 – £1,600 less than the old model.

Lots of bargains in the used car sector under ten years old

ADVICE website UsedCarExpert.com, in looking at car prices for vehicles registered in 1999 and 2000, says it is clear that mileage stops being one of the key price drivers on old cars.

"Cars of that vintage are being priced on demand and condition, not mileage," says the online firm's Matt Tumbridge, adding: "So if the trade is less concerned about mileage, perhaps we should be too."

Here, Tumbridge selects three cars that have often completed significant motorway miles, but still remain in great condition and can now be found at great prices.

BMW 5-Series (1988-1995) – "It looks very old now, but still has great engines and is a superb drive," states Tumbridge. "The range is very tough, but is now slipping down into banger territory, which means they can be superb value – but with high running costs."

Most economical model is the 525tds, returning 39.6mpg, and best used buy, the 525 petrol, has a great engine and gets the comfortable SE specification.

UsedCarExpert.com lists 25 faults to spot, and prices a 2001 525tds, with at least 80,000 miles on the clock, at around £7,200 to £8,000.

Audi A6 (1997-2004) – "This easily matches BMW 5s and Mercedes E Class', and is certainly better built inside and out," says Tumbridge. "But the Audi badge does not have the image, and that means lower prices. The Avant estate is a decent size."

Most economical model is the 1.9 TDI 115, averaging 52.3mpg, and best used buy is the 2.4-litre V6. It has a big engine, decent power, and because it is petrol, comes cheap.

UsedCarExpert.com has 15 pre-buy checks listed, and prices a 2001 1.9 TDI Avant Estate, a 100,000 miler, at around £3,800 to £4,491.

Saab 9-5 (1997-present) – "Well built, lavishly equipped and always cheap, here is the perfect used executive car which has it all, including a great safety record. And prices are getting lower all the time." asserts Tumbridge.

Most economical model is the 2.2 TiD, with an average 38.2mpg, and best used buy is the 2.0 turbo, with SE specification.

UsedCarExpert.com says there're 13 faults to avoid, and prices 2001 2.2 TiD Linear, with a minimum mileage reading of 80,000, at around £6,600 to £7,500.

Vaux's sporty edge

THERE'RE a whole lot of motoring thrills to be enjoyed on the roads this May with a slew of new Vauxhall models being unveiled.

First up is the Sport Rouge, the latest edition to the Tigra range, featuring a change to the drop-top roof.

The replacement for the Sport model, it features a whole host of standard equipment. Perhaps the most eye-catching feature is its roof which is now covered in Bordeaux Red fabric. The new set-up offers the look of a traditional canvas roof but the Sport Rouge keeps the safety and security of the folding hard-top.

This edition comes with central locking, electric door mirrors, CD player and steering wheel mounted controls as standard, anong with 16-inch alloy wheels, an aux-in MP3 player jack and sports seats. Leather trim, parking sensors and a VXR pack are available as options.

Available with either a 1.4 or 1.8-litre petrol engine or a 1.3-litre diesel, the Tigra Sport Rouge costs between £15,705 and £16,695 and is available now.

Next on the list of new models is the Astra VXR Nürburgring.

■ TIGRA SPORT ROUGE . . . now with a canvas look to its roof.

Named after the legendary circuit where most of the car's development took place, the special edition reatures a number or sports and racing additions to make the hot hatch even quicker.

A racing exhaust developed with Vauxhall's BTCC race team adds 15bhp to the standard car's 238bhp giving a 0-60mph time of 6.2 seconds and an electronically limited top speed of 155mph.

The engine's perfor-mance is complemented by a lower weight and a wider front and rear track, making the Nürburgring edition very rapid through the corners.

Upgraded interior and exterior details complete the package which costs £21,295.

Last but not least, if the Astre Nürburgring isn't quick enough for you, Vauxhall has put a new engine in its VXR8.

Now 6.2 litres in capacity, it produces a huge 425bhp making the new VXR8 the fastest road-going Vauxhall ever with a 0-60mph time of 4.9 seconds and improved in-gear acceleration.

Available now, the latest version of Vauxhall's super-saloon costs £35,695.

Premium sports model for Mondeo range

THE Ford Mondeo is set to receive some sporting treatment with the introduction of a new flagship – the Titanium X Sport.

Stylish, packed with standard equipment and powered by new diesel or five-cylinder petrol engines, the new Titanium X Sport will add performance to the Mondeo range.

Created in response to increased demand for top-end versions of the Mondeo, the Titanium X Sport combines the already excellent dynamics with a sporty, premium look.

Available in five-door hatchback and estate body styles, the Titanium X Sport has a host of design details inside and out to differentiate it from lesser models.

Two engines are available, a five cylinder, turbo-charged petrol producing 217bhp, or a new super-smooth diesel pushing out 173bhp which will return 45.6mpg.

The Mondeo Titanium X Sport is available to buy now costing £23,355 for the hatchback with the estate version setting you back £26,605.

■ TITANIUM X SPORT . . . the Ford is loaded with equipment.

Consumer Advice - A Pet is a Lifetime Commitment

pet

Never Buy On Impulse

Dogs and Cats can live 15-20 years.
Rabbits can live 7-10 years or longer.
Will you be there for them - through marriage, divorce, having babies, moving house and holidays away?

Have you considered:
- Do you have the time to give your pet the exercise, mental stimulation, training and attention it needs?
- Dogs and cats cost around £500-£1000 a year to keep.
- If this is a pet for the children, who will look after the animal when the children leave home?

Note: Under the Animal Welfare Act 2006 a pet owner has a legal duty to ensure the welfare of his animal(s).

If you decide to buy a pet we would always recommend the following:
- Please consider contacting your local animal rescue/rehoming centre. There are thousands of healthy, loving animals all over the UK who need a home.
- Research before you buy. Be sure you understand the needs of the pet you are interested in. Check that your lifestyle and environment suit the animal.
- When buying kittens and puppies, insist on seeing the mother with the litter. Check that the facilities are clean and the animals appear alert and healthy. You should be able to handle them freely under supervision. Make sure your chosen pet is old enough to leave its mother.
- Ensure that the animal you are buying is healthy and free from signs of injury or disease. Always ask for a copy of its medical records including vaccination certificate and records of worming and flea treatment.
- Be prepared to wait; the right pet is worth waiting for!

Bowlers on rampage

A STUNNING performance sent Mildenhall's under-15s ssorching into the second round of the the Abbs Trophy.
They ripped apart Saxmundham to seal a home tie against Easton or Eye, Reynolds (retired 50) and White (31) taking them to 137 for 3 before the bowlers took over.
Desborough finished with a hat-trick – all bowled – in 3 for 7; White took two in two balls to finish with 2 for 13 while Ward took three wickets in four deliveries to wind up with 3 for 9.
Mildehall's under-11 side in the CYCA racked up a stunning 136-run win against Littleport.
A brilliant batting performance took them to 331 before Alfie Marston, Matt Allen and Ashley Clark rocked their rivals with three wickets each.
And their West Suffolk League match agaist Woolpit A went just as well, Mildenhall scoring 325 to win by 99 runs.
The club's under-13s progressed into the next round of the County Cup after beating Brockley by 50 runs. Jean van Overmiere (29 not out) and Ryan Clark (26) helped their side to 107 for 6 before Alistair Kingdon (four overs, 2 for 6) and Joe Nicholls (3-2-1) restricted Brackley to Brockley 57 for 6.

Marauders put out Dragons' fire

They saw off one of their main rivals – Dragons – in the three-way battle at the top with a steady batting performance that took them to 291, Mayank Kandpal, Toby Adams, Ellis Frith and Daniel Moss making significant contributions.
Despite the efforts of Jean van Overmiere and Louis Gooden, Dragons finished 21 runs short.
Raiders picked up their first win of the season, beating co-leaders Warriors in the last over.
Ryan Clark and Cameron Ramsay both hit 20s, guiding Raiders to 268, and Warriors looked on course to top the total until Clark bowled a tight over and Ramsay took the key wicket of Jordan.

Six of the best from Huckle

TUCKER GARDNER CAMBS AND HUNTS PREMIER LEAGUE

ADAM Huckle produced a scintillating spell and took six victims to lead Burwell to a 13-run victory at Ramsey. Mark Bissett's men batted first and lost wickets regularly, although Grant Flower's 49 gave them a lift.

Benjamin Cross hit 47 and Daniel Jones added 30 to help the visitors reach 189 for 9, but Ramsey's reply got off to a flying start as Australian teenager Jack Littlewood amassed 86 and Damian Clarke 25. However, Huckle was brought into the attack and ripped through the innings with 6 for 53 to skittle Ramsey for 176.

In Division Two, Eaton Socon's Jonathon Carpenter took 5 for 64 and Fordham's Mark Silcock and Mark Abbott made half-centuries in their draw. Silcock's 56 and Abbott's unbeaten 55 steered Fordham to 201 for 9, before Gavin Harding (3 for 33) and Carl Arnold (3 for 46) did their best to turn the game in Fordham's favour, but Paul Field (34) and David Humphrey (26) made sure Eaton Socon closed on 161 for 6.

■ GOOD KNIGHT . . . former England opening batsman Nick Knight gave his support to a new cricket shop in Burwell aimed at helping encourage youngsters into the sport. Cricket Stick is the brainchild of Gary Du Plooy and former Cambridgeshire and England under-19 captain Paul Redfarn, and Knight, the ex-Warwickshire and Essex batsman, did the opening duties, signing shirts and bats. A percentage of sales from purchases at the Burwell-based Cricket Stick shop will go to cricket clubs to help youngsters in the sport. Super Baugh hammers ton

■ CHRIS BAUGH . . . smashed century

MARSHALL HATCHICK TWO COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIP

CHRIS Baugh smashed an unbeaten century as Mildenhall remain the only undefeated team in Division One after just two weeks of the season following their 47-run win at home to Frinton.

The 17-year-old batsman reached his 100 off the final ball of the innings as the hosts recovered from 8 for 3 to make 207 for 7.

South African Lucky Phangaeanpu took four wickets and Francois Bester three as Frinton were dismissed for 160.

Richard Ford hit 94 as Exning won by 20 runs at Elmstead Grasshoppers in Division Two. Ford was well supported by skipper Matt Catley's 45 and Chris Lomas' knock of 40 as the visitors reached 243 for 5. Daniel Baigent took 5 for 58 with wicketkeeper Mickey Skelton taking four catches as Exning bowled out Grasshoppers for 223.

In Division Three, Michael Reeve's half-century was not enough to prevent Lakenheath going down by 26 runs at Ipswich. Ipswich set a target of 234 for 5, but despite Reeve hitting 56 and Danny Reynolds a quickfire 35 off 22 balls, the visitors fell short with 208 for 9.

Captain Steve Lankester led the way with 56, but Mildenhall II lost by 95 runs at Copford in Division Three. Copford were already 130 without loss after just 15 overs before going on to reach a big score of 301 for 5. Mildenhall were going well at 160 for 4 with Lankester and Luke Turner (44) providing the ammunition only to lose some quick wickets and finish on 206 for 7.

Tuddenham lost by 37 runs at East Bergholt in Division Three after making 287 for 7 in reply to the hosts' total of 324 for 5.

Skipper Daren Hayward made 96 as Worlington clinched an 80-run victory at Halstead II in Division Four. Hayward's score steadied the ship after the visitors were just 33 for 2 after 17 overs as they were set a target of 243. Paul Marston and Adam Horrox both took three wickets to restrict Halstead to 163 for 8.

ATHLETICS

Vickery's victory on the Heath

TOM Vickery took the top honours in Newmarket Joggers' popular Heath Run.
He crossed the line in 18min 20sec, with the women's race going to Jenna Clary (St Edmunds Pacers) in 21.39, a performance which also earned her the women's junior prize.
However, there was just as much interest in the Stable and Stud Staff Challenge run in conjunction with the main event.
Paul Holley, from David Elsworth's yard, won the men's race in 18.35 while Ursula White (Darley Pre-Training) took the women's title in 23.01.
And, backed by Robin Clifford (19.02) and Gary Bardwell (21.16), Darley Pre-Training lifted the team prize.
A Joggers' spokesman said: "The event was extremely well supported yet again by the racing industry with runners and teams from Luca Cumani, Sir Michael Stoute, Greenwood Ellis, Elms Stud, Animal Health Trust, Rossdales, British Racing School, Lida Vets and several teams from Darley. "The Joggers would like to thank the Jockey Club Estates for help in hosting the event and Waitrose for their donation. All proceeds from the event will go to Racing Welfare."
The Joggers fielded a strong contingent, led in by Vincent Coogan in seventh (19.41).
Other times: 15 Jim Beeton 20.11, 16 Ben Blowes (20.19), 33 Stuart Hansell 22.17, 43 Gen Godward (23.11), 47 Martin Gear (23.25), 70 Virginia Rushmere (24:58), 72 Maxine Burgess (25.02), 75 Cathryn Starling (25.19), 79 Richard Jones (25.30), 96 Claude Froggitt (27.07), 98 Ryan Coogan (27.19), 110 Nat Allen (28.15).
■ Ben Blowes followed up his brilliant run in the Flora London Marathon by being the first Newmarket Jogger home in the Great East Anglian 10k Run.
In the process he further lowered his personal best, completing the King's Lynn-based course in 37min 13sec.
Three other Joggers also competed – Ursula White (45.49), Josh Lida (53.48), and Dave Price (62.46, personal best).
Two other Joggers took on the Beckland 10k, Cathryn Starling finishing strongly in 46.12 and Angie Beeton completing the course in 63.49.
And Blowes was back in action at the weekend, winning the Willingham fun run in 49.50.

Derby speculation won't be Over yet

■ TWICE OVER . . . doubts over Derby trip might send Henry Cecil's colt to France instead.

Racing by Peter Scargill

THE hype for the Vodafone Derby reaches another level today with three of the major Epsom players lining up in the Totesport.com Dante Stakes at York.

Three of the last four Derby winners have won on the Knavesmire and Twice Over, Tartan Bearer and Centennial all hope to take a big step forward with victory in the 10-furlong race.

Henry Cecil is responsible for the unbeaten Twice Over, who is currently favourite to land the multiple-champion trainer his first Derby since Oath in 1999.

However, the son of Observatory is not guaranteed to stay the Derby trip and might instead go for the shorter French Derby.

Teddy Grimthorpe, racing manager for owner Prince Khalid Abdullah, said: "I've no doubt that speculation about whether he will stay the Vodafone Derby distance will continue whatever happens at York.

"We have to give him a chance to be a Derby horse if he is. There is a reasonable amount of stamina in the pedigree, but it is not pure staying blood. It has to be a question mark if you have a miler as a sire."

One horse who does look certain to stay the 1m 4f trip at Epsom is the Sir Michael Stoute-trained Tartan Bearer.

A full-brother to 2000 Guineas winner and Derby runner-up Golan, he has run just twice in his career and never outside maiden company.

Stoute said: "His maiden win was workmanlike. It was an ordinary maiden and he is rated 86, which is the level of form he has shown.

"He produced what you would expect from that type of horse. He was not explosive in the way he quickened."

But, despite his inexperience, Tartan Bearer is only 14-1 to win at Epsom, having been as big as 40-1 at the start of April.

And it's worth bearing in mind that the last horse Stoute sent to the Dante with only two runs in maidens was the 2004 Derby-winner North Light.

The most experienced of the three, though, is John Gosden's Centennial, who has made five racecourse appearances.

The grey son of Dalakhani is following the same route as Gosden's 1994 Epsom Derby winner Benny The Dip, having won the Sandown Classic Trial on his latest start.

After the Sandown race, Gosden said: "My previous four winners of this trial were primed for the race. Benny The Dip was not and neither was this horse."

Centennial's owner Michael Flynn will hope the Epsom dream does not end today, having paid £8,000 to supplement his horse into the big race.

Talking about Centennial following his Sandown win Flynn said: "This race went according to plan and I'm a sports person, so I'm optimistic and hopeful about Epsom."

Caine able

MICHAEL Caine has extended his lead in the Porsche Carrera Cup.

But the Newmarket driver did not have things his own way in the fifth and sixth rounds of the competition at Donington Park.

He was third in the first race and second in the next, stretching his lead to six points.

By George

GEORGE Morris dominated the Honda Cadets section in the fifth round of the Red Lodge Club 2000 Kart Championship, winning all three heats and the final.

The closest finish was in the TKM Extreme final, where David Tingle won by 0.008sec from David Cresswell after a race-long battle.

SPEEDWAY: MONARCHS OF THE FEN STUN MILDENHALL

Sorry Tigers hit low point

Mildenhall Fen Tigers 30
Edinburgh Monarchs 60

PREMIER LEAGUE

A NEW signing could not inspire Mildenhall and they slumped to their second biggest defeat of the season to leave them rooted to the bottom of the Premier League.

The Fen Tigers should have been buoyed by the inclusion of Pole, Michal Rajkowski, but instead they were comprehensively thrashed by the league's in-form side Edinburgh, who scored eight heat maximums and had victory sewn up by halfway.

The Monarchs scorched away with two 5-1s, with Rajkowski hitting the deck in his first ride after catching team-mate Jan Graversen's back-wheel in the opening race.

Henning Loof and Kaj Laukkanen, against his former team, responded with a maximum in heat three and skipper Robbie Kessler put the Tigers just two points behind after a flying start to win race four.

■ MICHAL RAJKOWSKI . . . Tigers' new signing could not lift his side and Tigers crashed to a heavy defeat.

But the powerful Monarchs slammed in half-a-dozen race maximums in succession that secured victory.

Laukkanen was beaten by both opponents from the back in heat five, as was Rajkowski in the next.

The tactical ride failed miserably in heat seven when Kessler was shoved aside by American Ryan Fisher, leaving him to finish third.

Rajkowski showed glimpses of his talent in heat 10, racing the West Row boards with style and almost slicing under the Monarchs pairing, who swiftly closed down his route through.

Kessler halted the away maximums with another win from the tapes in heat 11, and Makinen felt aggrieved after a collision on the fourth bend with Derek Sneddon brought the pair down in heat 12, with the teenage Finn harshly excluded. Laukkanen won the re-run.

Kessler lost a compelling duel with William Lawson in heat 13, but a race later provided the highlight for the West Row crowd when Makinen tracked Fisher for a couple of laps before rounding him superbly on the pits turn to gain his first victory for the Tigers.

Mildenhall – Kessler 11 (5 rides), Laukkanen 6+1 (5), Loof 4 (4), Makinen 3 (4), Rajkowski 3 (4), Hughes 2 (4), Graversen 1 (4).

Edinburgh – Tully 15 (6 rides), Lawson 12+1 (5), Summer 10+3 (5), Fisher 9+1 (5), Wethers 7+3 (5), Sneddon 7+2 (4).

Mildenhall's next meeting is at Stoke on Saturday.
